TOO BAD
Whatever slim hopes of tax cuts still remained, have gone out of the window now, reports the Ottawa correspondent of The Financial Post.

In the light of the main expenditure estimates for 1956-57, and of the known commitments not yet costed, no major change can now be expected in this year's budget.

The same thing may well be true of 1957. Election year or not, health insurance will throw anything from $120 millions to $180 millions extra onto the budget load.

But as of now financial people are inclined to assume that the Liberals must be content to launch their 1957 campaign with health insurance instead of tax cuts.

The virtual certainty of heavy health expenditures strikes the financial knell of tax reductions this year. It is considered unlikely that the federal-provincial health scheme will be finalized and put into operation in time for legislation to be passed at this session. More probably it will not demand federal expenditures until 1957.

But with that new heavy commitment looming ahead Finance Minister Harris is not likely to trim his revenues too close. The last thing he will want is to have to raise taxes next year.

"A CANADIAN WAY"

Is there such a thing as a Canadian way of thinking? Is there any one attitude of mind, that is characteristic of all who are Canadians? In Saturday Night published January 7, 1956, Hugh McLennan says, a Canadian has two aims, namely to become bigger and bigger and richer and richer. Not one of Canada's fifteen million people are ever likely to become any better than they are. He came to this conclusion that any Canadian failure was the fault of no one but himself. He also made up his mind that his trouble was not that he lived in a poor country but in a poor state of mind. Since Mr. Canadian has faced these two issues he has heard his country proclaimed as the second best spot on the globe in regards to health, moral well being, and enterprising service. There may be more than these involved in a high standard of living. I will grant there should be, but it seems to me these are of great national worth.

Now this matter of becoming bigger and bigger and richer and richer, gives us cause and food for thought. A man said one time "I am just what my wife made me." Someone else replied, "sure, but she did not spend much time on the job." With no desire to offer a word of negative criticism, I feel you will agree that we need to do a lot of thinking, planning, working and praying in this matter of deciding just what we mean by "bigger and bigger" and by "richer and richer."

A few years ago in a certain farming section of Alberta there were a number of model T cars. The kind you had to "get out and get under." These cars were all paid for. One man, a farmer, bought an expensive car. In the matter of a few months there were a number of these higher priced cars owned by those farmers. But they were not paid for. Some

Squirrel Cage . . .

JUNIOR: Mother, do all fairy tales tales begin with "Once upon a time?"
MOTHER: No, son. Not always. Sometimes they start out, "Dear, I'm working late at the office tonight."

Jones paid a visit to the hospital to see his friend Smith. The heavily-bagged patient was anxious to know what had happened.

"Well," Jones told him, "you not oiled and bet that you could jump out of the window and fly around the house."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed Smith. "Didn't you try to stop me?"
"Stop you," cried the other. "I had $5 on you."

Upon entering a New York Hotel a woman recognized a well-known industrialist pacing up and down the room, and she asked him what he was doing there.

"I'm going to make a speech," he said.

"Are you always this nervous before you make a speech?"

"Nervous," he replied. "No, I never get nervous."

"Is that so?" replied the woman. "Then what are you doing in the Ladies' Room?"

Those farmers lost their land over those bigger cars. That which is bigger is not always better.

What about being richer and richer? He owned a nice little mill in a little town, his children went to the town school. The parents went to church. They were friends of the minister. He sold out the little mill and became quite wealthy. The minister friend of former days called to see him. He was too busy. In the little town they all ate at the same table at the same time, but now each of the family had to have his or her meals each at his or her own time. The maid now gets meals ready at four different hours, three times every day. In family fellowship and affection they are not richer.

There is a way to become both bigger and better and richer and richer. "Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior." "Go ye unto all the world and bear witness to that growth." This could be our Canadian way. It could be our contribution to world peace.

NOTES

Agricultural

COYOTES AND RABIES: According to Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, Director of Alberta's Veterinary Services and Chairman of the Central Rabies Control Committee, the rabies situation in 1955 is very encouraging. Most of the cases occurred in the Peace River Block and a few Northwest of Barhead. Dr. Ballantyne advises that only two cases of rabies were diagnosed from August 1st to December 31st. A hog was positive at the end of August and early in December a cow was positive. Both were in the Peace River Block. Out of over 50 cases examined in 1955, 20 were coyotes. The remainder were 1 cat, 9 cattle, 3 horses, 3 sheep, 14 hogs and chased 2 men. Of the positive domestic animals examined, 2 cattle and 7 hogs are known to have been bitten by coyotes. Dr. Ballantyne points out this further emphasizes the necessity of keeping the coyote population at a low level to prevent the development of an epidemic. In the agricultural areas of the province approximately 80,000 coyotes were destroyed in 1955 through the coyote control program. The Federal Health of Animals Division again vaccinated all dogs north of the 55th parallel.

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fulcher

Field investigations and experimental feeding trials to determine the poisoning danger to cattle from oil well locations have been carried out. Lead, crude oil and certain components of drilling mud are often toxic. Lead poisoning is the one of most significance.

The lead originated with paint cans left at drilling sites. With drilling crews in most cases co-operating well in cleaning up these paint cans, the cases of poisoning now are quite rare.

Oil itself has caused very few cases of poisoning but the animals do get enough of it to upset the bacteria levels in the stomach and the animals will suffer.

However cattle do die from lead poisoning every year and in many cases it is due to paint cans left about the farmstead by the farmers themselves. Another source of poisoning is old discarded batteries, such materials should be discarded where animals cannot get to them.

The danger is great at this time of the year, often cattle have been on long periods of feeding, with the arrival of warmer weather they roam about and get into these paint cans.

If a mineral deficiency is present in the ration cattle will develop depraved appetites and can be observed chewing on all sorts of objects such as boxes, paint cans or old batteries.

It must be remembered old well sites, refuse piles, paint cans are a potential danger and should be treated as such.

Clock Of Life . . .

The Clock of Life is wound but once
And no man has the power,
To tell just when the hands will stop

At late or early hour

Now is the only time you own:
Live, love, toil with a will.

Place no faith in tomorrow for
The clock may then be still.

which come from knowing that we are God's children, forgiven through the life and death of Christ.

The man who has found pardon for his sins through faith in Christ has found a peace and rest which are beyond the grasp of the unbeliever. There is nothing in life that can harm him. Sickness, loss of wealth, calamity — can all happen to him, but none of these can disturb that perfect rest which comes from the sure conviction: "I am at peace with God."

Many people today who are at their wit's end, who are leading lives of futility and frustration, who are on the verge of despair and nervous collapse, are in need of just this assurance of the Christian Gospel.

Peace, quiet, confidence — these are to be found in the full acceptance of the Lenten message — "Come unto Me," says Christ, "and I will give you rest."

The Call of Lent is again coming to you as we prepare our hearts for Ash Wednesday, when we in spirit accompany our Lord on the road of His great Passion.

Will you come to Him?

World Trade
Outlook . . .

World trade as a whole will, in the next ten or twenty years, rise far above the all-time record established in recent years but world trade in farm products which, since World War II, has lagged behind trade in non-farm products, will continue to lag behind. This opinion was expressed by L. A. Wheeler, consultant of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, when the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture last week. Despite the failure of the agricultural trade to keep pace, he said, the future was not bleak for in the last analysis the farmer's prosperity depends on the prosperity of other segments of the population.

Dr. Wheeler suggested two main reasons why the outlook for trade in farm products was less promising than that for trade in general. The first is that the world's agricultural resources, both physical and human, are more evenly distributed among the nations of the world than are the resources for non-agricultural production. The soil is the basis for agricultural production and all nations have soil. Furthermore, new techniques are making it possible for countries to greatly expand their production. Secondly, said Dr. Wheeler, national governments were intervening on behalf of their producers to see that they get reasonable returns for their efforts. As a result, trade in farm products is smaller than in the absence of such intervention.

Dr. Wheeler's predictions for food and grains and livestock were briefly as follows:

Good grains — mainly wheat and rice, constituting the most important group of agricultural products moving in world trade. Wheat is three times as important as rice. Total world trade in wheat in the years since World War II has been the largest in history — in the neighborhood of 900 million bushels per year. It is not likely that this trade will increase beyond this level during the next ten or twenty years. It is much more likely to decline — but not to the level of pre-World War II trade of 500 million bushels. Imports of the big three — United Kingdom, Western Germany and Japan — may go higher but the prospects of opening up substantial and dependable markets in other areas are not good mainly because of the wide distribution of resources for wheat production and national government policies designed to make use of these resources. Canada, he predicted, although it has temporarily lost first place, would continue over the years to be the world's largest exporter. It has the resources to produce the kind of hard, high protein wheat that many importing countries must have and it has an effective system for export marketing.

Feed grains and concentrates — Feed grain exports are likely to be below prewar levels but the market for concentrates such as oilseed, cake and meal is likely to expand.

Livestock and meat — International trade in live animals is likely to continue to forge ahead, mainly between neighboring countries such as Canada and the United States, but trade in meat is not likely to rise.

President Taylor was the guest speaker at the Bergen United Missionary church on Sunday. Mr. Taylor is also the vice-district superintendent of the church, and was helping Rev. H. A. Traub in the work of the district superintendent on Sunday. He took students with him for special singing.

Mrs. Suder and Miss Grethe Andersen went to Gahndad on Sunday for missionary services. They were accompanied by several students also.

Miss Hazel Eby, returned missionary from Mexico, was guest speaker in the United Missionary Church on Sunday evening. She is a graduate of the College, and has spent ten years amongst the Indians of Mexico. She has very interesting pictures, both movies and slides, that give us a graphic picture of the work that she is doing there. She does medical work and intends to take a course in dentistry provided for missionaries before she returns. She is a daughter of Mr. Sam Eby of this town.

Mrs. M. A. Finlay was in town for a few days visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Taylor. She came to attend the Sherick funeral.

Our College hockey team came off with flying colors as they played the Westcott hockey team on Thursday evening, at the local rink. Earl Reimer, captain of the College team has his men well organized, and they showed good team work in this first game of the season. Westcott put up a brave fight, and the onlookers, who weren't too many, by the way, enjoyed watching the game even though the score was 14-0 in favor of the College. They will be playing again. You will want to see them — but perhaps you didn't know about this last game.

Rev. Bob Simpson will be continuing his classes in Evangelism and Missions this semester. He will teach again on Thursday afternoon and if any should wish to take the work under him you are invited to register for these classes. You would find it worthwhile.

The Boy Scout troop under the capable leadership of Mr. Peter Waidin of this faculty, had the opportunity of taking a church service in Parkdale Church a week ago Sunday. There are about 16 members in the troop and Mr. Waidin tells us they did a remarkable job in taking the service. The church was filled to capacity, and lunch was served them after the service. Mr. Waidin is doing a good work with these young fellows, he himself being a recognized scout leader recognized by the Provincial Scout Directors.

A group of students in Harley Dyck's Gospel Service league team, went to Westward Ho and a school at Eagle Hill under the Canadian Sunday School Mission, on Sunday.

Admission 50c; children 25c.

LENTEN SERVICE TO BE HELD AT REDEEMER LUTHERAN

As in former years, Redeemer Lutheran Church will again conduct mid-week Lenten service beginning with Ash Wednesday, Feb. 15 at 8:00 p.m. until Easter. The pastor has chosen as his general theme for these mid-week meditations the topic: "Behold the Man". It is his aim to paint a word picture of the Savior as we see Him betrayed by a friend, denied by a follower, condemned by a mob, crucified by a rabble and finally, concerned about His disciples.

In order to acquaint the members of the congregation, and all others interested, it has been decided to conduct a Mission School every Wednesday, immediately after the service. Through the media of colored slides, the Pastor will take the members on a World Tour of our Missions. This will include the various areas where the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod is active in this phase of our faith: India, China, Japan, the Philippines, New Guinea, Mexico, Central and South America, Africa, Europe, and England. One of the evenings will be devoted to study the work in the United States and Canada. It is also planned to devote one period to review the work in the Alberta-British Columbia District of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Finally, the last session will be used to acquaint the members with the general set up and division of Synod. These sessions will last only about 30 minutes and will be conducted immediately after the mid-week Lenten services.

From Behind The Glass . . .

Not too much this week — maybe because the writer hasn't been curling. We did hear that his record of a 98% game has been challenged by a local shotamouth who claims a 90% record. As the game was played on Sunday local authorities claim it as no contest and thus the would-be champion has lost his claim to fame.

As the week goes on games are progressing in the mixed bonspiel being held at the local ice palace and just because Law won a game doesn't mean the better pinks won't come up with the chips (or is it silver) in the finals.

More on the results of thisspiel in our next issue.

Cliff Sorenson and his helpers ran into trouble during the Brax playoff last week and were unable to produce enough rocks that count. They didn't even do as well as the amateurs that were sent north by the Lions club a few short days ago. Win column, V, loss column TWO.
